

MORE INTENSIVE MANPOWER USE SOUGHT IN MOVES

Washington—(P)—More intensive use of manpower is the keynote of the latest governmental moves on the home front.

Present administration plans appear to be designed to set up every incentive for a voluntary shift of workers to jobs considered most essential, and to get greater production from those already in such jobs.

The alternative to voluntary action presumably would be national service legislation: A system whereby a draft board would send men to jobs on the home front as well as on the fighting fronts. This the administration apparently hopes to avoid.

See Long War

Highly placed Washington circles foresee three more years of war before Japan is whipped. . . . And say long-range planning will have to envision an even longer period, because this estimate depends on taking the measure of Hitler Germany first.

The view in these circles is that military needs come first, in manpower as in food and goods. Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt says there may be need for drafting men with special skills—the very men now classed as "essential" in war industries.

Seek Maximum Production

So the pressure is on to get maximum production out of the available manpower left at home—and the employer engaged in non-war work apparently is going to have to get by with less help.

That is the thread which runs through these recent developments:

1. The "work-or-fight" order with its list of non-deferrable jobs and industries.
2. The 48-hour minimum work week order with time-and-a-half over 40 hours for jobs covered by the wage and hour law.
3. McNutt's assertion that virtually every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 and 38, regardless of marital status or dependents, will be needed in the armed forces. "No deferment is permanent."
4. Army witnesses' opposition before congressional hearings to the proposal to set up new categories for calling heads of families.
5. McNutt's statement that the 48-hour order contemplates, to begin with, a "scheduled" 48-hour week—with the implication that longer schedules may be ordered in some vital industries because absences from work cut down the actual work week.
6. Government and union appeals against absenteeism—workers staying away from jobs for reasons considered "inexcusable." (The CIO said absences had increased from a pre-war "normal" of 2.2 per cent, to 4.5 per cent for men and 6.5 for women.)
7. Action of the house naval committee in tacking a "rider" onto a minor bill requiring navy yards to give local draft boards the name of each employe "absent without prior authorization" along with an opinion as to whether the absence was justified.

To congressmen investigating the possibility of placing a limit on the armed forces short of the present 11,000,000-man mobilization plan, military men who can't speak for quotation by name declare that the axis has numerical superiority in the war theaters.

Townsend Club Council to Discuss Pension Plan

Elimination of the Wisconsin system of county pension departments will be discussed here this week-end at a meeting of the state council of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Dr. H. Truman Gordon, Madison, Townsend organizer and representative for Wisconsin, said today.

The meeting will bring together the 10 representatives of the congressional districts and the two members at large which form the council. They will meet at the Hotel Dixon Saturday night and Sunday to map a program of legislative activities for the Townsend movement in Wisconsin.

Seek $40 Per Month

Gordon declared the abolition of the county pension department set-up is part of the Wisconsin legislative program of the movement. He said it contemplates also repeal of the homestead lien law and the establishment of a sufficient state appropriation to guarantee old age assistance beneficiaries $40 per month.

If the uniform payment of $40 is achieved, Gordon said, the movement will attempt to abolish the county system of payment centers in favor of having payments made directly by the state. Involved in the tax is the hope that the burden of taxation can thus be shifted from real estate and personal property to income.

Back New Bill

The organization nationally is backing a new bill which was introduced in the house of representatives on February 2 and is now in the ways and means committee. The bill is titled the "business, employment, and security insurance act."

Those to meet here include Dr. C. M. Seelman, Kenosha, and John Kostner, Medford, state-at-large councillors, and Dr. F. K. Laramy, Chippewa Falls; Charles Behrends, Oconomowoc; S. A. Wallace, Spooner; John Cronce, Antigo; George Dolan, Green Bay; William S. Cozad, LaCrosse; M. O. Carter, Richland Center; Mrs. Oscar Denny, Monroe and David Scott, Milwaukee.

PAPER INDUSTRY TOLD TO STRETCH PULP SUPPLIES

New York—(P)—The paper industry was urged yesterday to stretch its limited supplies of wood pulp by greater use of waste paper and an increased addition of groundwood pulp, which takes less timber than higher grades of raw materials.

At a meeting of the technical committee of the American paper and pulp association, mill representatives were told immediate utilization of more waste paper was essential.

Recent demand of the waste paper market has been confined chiefly to higher grades, while lower qualities currently bring about half the established ceiling prices.

Wood Pulp Shortage

Some paper men said the shortage of wood pulp, one of the major factors given by the war production board in its declaration that curtailment of paper use was necessary, might be felt within 90 days. Those sources said maximum conservation would be necessary to continue mill operations on even the limited basis indicated by current and expected WPB orders restricting paper consumption.

One major suggestion discussed was more extensive use of groundwood together with a reduction in the amount of sulphite pulp, which is wood chemically treated to retain the fibrous or strength-giving qualities. Using groundwood, paper produced roughly equals in weight the amount of wood used. Sulphite pulp takes nearly twice as much wood but gives greater tensile strength and other qualities.

Meat Named President

George H. Mead, chairman of the Meap Corp., New York, was re-elected president of the American Paper and Pulp association. D. K. Brown, president of the Neenah Paper Co., Neenah, Wis., first vice-president and other association officers were re-elected.

Grafton Houston, vice-president of the Fort Howard Paper Co., Green Bay, Wis., was elected chairman of the Paper Napkin association.

E. G. Bennett, Escanaba Paper Co., Escanaba, Mich., was named a vice-president of the Groundwood Paper Manufacturers association.

State Would Control Cut of Timberland

Lansing—(P)—Senator George P. McCallum, Republican, Ann Arbor, introduced legislation yesterday to conduct a six-year experiment with state control over lumbering operations.

McCallum proposed to give the state conservation commission power to fix rules covering forest fire, disease, insect and lumbering controls.

Limit Pine Cutting

It would allow the commission to forbid or limit the cutting of Norway and white pine and all broad-leaf trees, except white birch and poplar, or less than 13 inches in diameter at stump height, and jackpine, spruce, balsam, fir, tamarack, hemlock and white birch of less than eight inches at the stump.

Exceptions would be allowed in certain instances.

It was reported the bill was endorsed by the organized lumbering interests. The Gobeic county board of supervisors two years ago asked for legislation of that type.

ASCHENBRENNER DIES IN ACTION

Auburdale, Wis.—Relatives here have received word of the death in action in New Guinea of Pvt. Edward C. Aschenbrenner, 36, first native of the Auburdale community to die in World War II.

A brother, Wenzel, of Laona, Wis., received the telegram from the war department announcing that Private Aschenbrenner was killed in the fighting against the Japanese on January 22. The message did not give details. The soldier had made his home in recent years with the brother at Laona.

Discharged, Called Back

Private Aschenbrenner saw several months of service with the army until the temporary discharge of men over 28 years old. He trained in Louisiana during his first period of active service. After being called back, he spent a short time training and was sent to Australia about seven months ago.

The last word from him was received in a Christmas telegram. Family members did not know when he was sent to New Guinea.

7 Brothers, 3 Sisters

He was born here December 30, 1906, and was not married. He is survived by seven brothers and three sisters, Wenzel, George, of Fond du Lac, and Michael, Louis, Joseph, Anton and Fred, all of Auburdale; Mrs. Frank (Mary) Herman, Auburdale; Mrs. Sylvester (Kate) Cliver, Marshfield, and Mrs. Ray (Anna) Hadler, Indianapolis. He was the youngest member of the family.

A requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic church on Tuesday, February 23, at 8:30 a. m. The celebrant will be the Rev. Joseph Steinhilber.

Bounty on Eagles Banned by Senate

Juneau, Alaska—(P)—The bald eagle, defended as a strong-winged national symbol, no longer will bring a $3 bounty to Alaskan hunters.

The territorial senate voted 5 to 3 for repeal of the bounty act.

The appeal in behalf of the eagle as a national figure came from Gov. Ernest Gruening, who personally addressed the senate. He said President Roosevelt might issue an executive order against destruction of the bird.

The anti-eagle faction branded the bird as a predatory killer of fish and small animals.
