

Miss Vander Ploeg, Charles Bergan Are United in Marriage

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vander Ploeg, Arpin, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Laura Vander Ploeg to Charles Bergan of Milwaukee on Saturday, October 2. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Thomas Lyter in the Milwaukee home of the groom's mother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bergan, who served as the attendants.

The bride was wearing a beige wool suit with matching hat and brown veil. Her flowers were bronze baby chrysanthemums arranged in a shoulderette. Mrs. Bergan wore a black suit with white trim and a shoulderette of white baby chrysanthemums.

A reception and supper for the immediate relatives and close friends followed the ceremony at the Bergan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bergan have returned to Milwaukee, where they have taken up residence at 2325 North Fourth street, after spending a week with her parents and other relatives at Arpin and Athens.

We are all sure the Lincoln high students are doing their part to ease the labor shortage due to war conditions. A work survey was taken Tuesday during the study hall periods. To our amazement we find that 44 per cent of our student body has jobs after school hours.

The total number of students working is 367 of whom 327 are connected with business or industries while 40 boys are doing farm work. Students working in business and industries work on the average of 14.76 hours a week. Farm boys work an average of 30.71 hours a week.

The junior class topped the other classes by a total of 95 workers, not including the farm boys. The second highest classes were the seniors and sophomores, who have 81 workers. The freshmen workers number 64.

The sophomores take the lead for the greatest number of farm boys, of which there are 18. The next highest are juniors, 10; seniors and freshmen, six.

There are 97 students who work in stores, 45 taking care of children, 35 housekeepers, 21 pinsetters, 17 who work on cranberry marshes, 8 peddling papers and office workers, 9 gardeners, and 7 who work at the theaters. Railroads, Preway, Rapids Beverage, Gross Bros., City Sign Service, coal companies, and hotels employ the other 22 students.

Homecoming is the talk of the week and everybody is preparing for it in one way or another. Our football players are working longer and harder hours, for they are determined to make Antigo fight for whatever they get—if anything, on Friday. Everywhere you look the clever football tags, with a football hero in a red helmet looking you in the face, are to be seen and everybody has cramped fingers from signing their John Henry's on them. Kathleen Berg—deserves the credit for the designing of these tags.

The freshmen boys are having trouble getting trucks to carry brush for a bonfire, but they are determined to have a big one. In fact the boys worked overtime to get the brush.

Marion Clapp and her committee have some excellent ideas for our pep meeting. Choice of a speaker is to be a surprise as is the outcome of the election of the homecoming queen.

Due to war restrictions there will be no parade, hence the highlight of the evening will be the dance and the appearance of our homecoming queen. The dance music is to be furnished by the Castillians.

The decoration of the field and the distribution of posters is to be handled by the sophomore class. Prizes were awarded for the best posters turned in. First prize went to Cliff Thompson, second prize went to Tom Billmeyer and the third prize went to Margaret Beadle and Coral Rezin.

We shall miss many of the alumni who would be here were they not in the service of our country, but we shall still try to make a homecoming of which they would be proud.

Homecoming again—a thrill for everybody, especially the senior girls who have a chance to be homecoming queen. Homecoming queens are nominated by the clubs of Lincoln high school, then the names of these girls are put on a ballot, and the student body votes for queen.

The girls who were nominated this year are: Jerry Marcoux, Pep club; Ariene Oestrich, choir; Ruth Roberts, Gamma Sigma; Helen Yeske, G. A. A.; Jane Ritchay, Thespians; Marjorie Sandman, Art club; Jane Tess, Chemistry; and Marjorie Otto, Swing Shifters.

Flynn To Appear In Court October 22

Los Angeles—(AP)—Actor Errol Flynn will appear in superior court next Friday on an order to show cause why he should not pay $1,750 a month support for the two-year-old daughter of Shirley Evans Hassau, pending trial of the mother's civil action in which she alleges he is the father.

Flynn has denied Mrs. Hassau's allegation.

$168.75 worth of bonds Tuesday which totals $510.95. The percentage dropped from 72 per cent to 71 per cent, but next week we intend to better even the 72 per cent record. Mr. Hornigold, Mr. Torrioni, Miss Neal, Mr. Samuelson, Miss Roach, and Mr. Specht had 100 per cent rooms.

Art Club Activities—The purpose of the Art club is to give those students who are in art class a chance to do further art work. It also gives those students who do not take art a place to come and paint. The club chooses the subject for the year, which is painting this year.

At the end of the school year the Art club sponsors an art contest which the whole school is entitled to enter. For the last two years the club has been making the little basketball players that you see so much on the girls' coats. As for recreation, the club usually has about three picnics or hikes during the year.

The club is in Miss Gelbach's charge with John Staub as president; Cliff Thompson, vice president; and Kathleen Berg, secretary and treasurer.

This Week's Staff—The third hour English class had charge of Hi-Lites this week. Our editor was Roger Fairbert. His reporters were: Tom Billmeyer, Donald Godin, Jr. Langlois, Jim Kurz, Dick Semrow, and Don Sowatzke. Barbara Johns is also a typist for Hi-Lites.

THE THEATER

WISCONSIN THEATRE
The locale of Columbia's "First Comes Courage," now playing at the Wisconsin theatre starring Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne, is a mythical village on the southwest coast of Norway by the name of Stavik.

An actual Norwegian town is not being used in the picture for one simple reason; there are too many Commando raids on Norway nowadays, and it would be impossible for a script to keep up with history.

So rather than confine the scene to one particular village, Columbia has constructed Stavik to resemble any and all villages on the southwest coast, and the picture shows the fine work of the loyal underground in supplying information to the British Commandos.

Merle Oberon, during the production of the picture, told of a successful Commando raid as reported by Reuter's special Stockholm correspondent who obtained the information from a Norwegian underground newspaper.

Here's the exciting story of what happened: 14 Commandos reached their objective, which was a dam and power station at Glemstorf, undetected. They seized and bound the guards, then untied them when they promised to keep quiet. One broke his promise and dashed to warn a guard at the entrance to a tunnel, and both these guards were shot down. When the Commandos had started a fire in the control room, more Germans emerged from the tunnel to investigate; meanwhile several Commandos had reached the power station itself, smashed all vital instruments and machinery there, then went uphill to the dam supplying the power station and set their charges of dynamite.

Eight Germans were killed in the fierce skirmish that followed, and others had to retreat. When they had accomplished all their duties and had run out of ammunition, the Commandos split up and tried to reach their landing place separately. Eight succeeded, and the remaining six were taken prisoner and later sent to Germany. Destruction of the dam and station cut off the source of power for a large duraluminum factory operated by the Nazis.

This kind of excitement is happening regularly on the second front, preparatory to an invasion of the continent, according to Miss Oberon, who recently returned from an extended camp-tour abroad.

In the Columbia picture, in which the actress co-stars with Brian Aherne, there are several such Commando raids faithfully enacted throughout the story.

RAPIDS THEATRE
Being a member of Filmdom's sub-deb set means leading a pretty life. That is why Withers rejected a contract at her old studio, Twentieth Century-Fox, and signed with Republic, which agreed to use her services for only three pictures a year. The first of these pictures, "Johnny Doughboy," opening Sunday at the Rapids theatre, reflects the freshness, vivacity and spontaneity which comes from ample leisure time for rest and recreation.
