Election on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, 1864.

Republican Union Congressional Convention.

A Congressional Convention is hereby called, to assemble in the village of Sparta, Monroe county, Wis., at 12 o'clock M., on THURSDAY THE 25th DAY OF AUGUST, 1864, for the purpose of presenting a candidate for Member of Congress for the 6th Congressional District of the State of Wisconsin.

From the 12th Regiment.

Marietta, Ga., July 24, 1864.

DEAR JACK:—Herein I send list of killed, wounded and missing of Co. G, in the battles of last Thursday and Friday, near Atlanta. Our company lost less than any other in the regiment. The loss of the regiment was about 200.

KILLED.

Gerd Baker, of Centralia.
Benj. B. Newton.

WOUNDED.

Serg. Geo. L. Lang, severely in shoulder.
Private Ignace Grignon.
" A. A. Johnson.

MISSING.

Benj. Buck, Jr. Probably taken prisoner.

Below I add a list of those killed and wounded in skirmishes during the last two months:

Killed.—Corp. O. O. Oleson.

Wounded.—Serg. N. F. Rathbun, in face and shoulder. Privates Andrew Oleson, Thos. H. Nelson and Geo. H. Butler.

Geo. Shangnessy and Geo. Fritchey have died of disease.

In last Thursday's engagement, Maj. Gen. McPherson was killed, and Brig. Gens. Gresham and Ford wounded. Col. Bryant now commands our Brigade (the 1st Brigade, 3d Division, 17th Army Corps.)

Cpts. Stevens, Price and Wilson of our regiment were wounded, and Capt. Gillespie wounded and taken prisoners.

Our artillery has been shelling Atlanta for the last two days. I think the city will be taken in a very few days.

Please excuse the disconnected not be heard and heeded at Chicago, for peace."

Here is the declaration that there must be peace, with or without the Union; that if the Chicago convention nominates candidates committed by word or deed, like Grant, McClellan, or Seymour to the suppression of the rebellion by force, then these men will not support them, and they are coming to Chicago to be "heard and to be heeded" in their demands.

We have not the slightest doubt that if necessary we could prove that it is the intention of these peace men, in case they cannot control the Chicago convention to secede therefrom, and here in Chicago, hold a convention of their own to nominate candidates of their own.

A large portion of the delegates from Indiana and Ohio; the Wickliffe from Kentucky, and Byington delegates from Iowa, the secession delegates from Missouri, a portion of the Pennsylvania delegates, the Connecticut and New Hampshire delegates, and the Maryland and Delaware delegates will, it is understood, join the peace party in Chicago, and failing to control the convention, will repeat the drama enacted at Charleston four years ago, and secede; and immediately organize a convention of their own. The Charleston affair will be played over again, the most material change being that made necessary by the absence of Ben. Butler who is plying his vocation in another quarter. Grant, if applied to would possibly give him a leave of absence to be here on the twenty-ninth day of August.

The fact is no longer questionable that the Democracy are to be deprived of all prospect of success in the Presidential election by the men who are wearing Democratic garments, but who are really working for Lincoln's re-election. Mr. Vallandigham and Mr. Byington, and Seymour of Connecticut, are of more importance to the success of Lincoln than
