

claims are obtained.

The past week has been excessively unpleasant. High winds and cold rains have been the predominant feature of the season. The river is again rising, and in all probability will again be as high as a few weeks since.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. Mullen, engaged in running lumber for Henry Reed, was drowned at the Nekosa dam last Tuesday P. M. Three others were overboard but escaped. Mr. Mullen was an industrious and worthy man. He leaves a wife and two children.

A. N. Coon, of Capt. Compton's Company, who was wounded at the battle of Pittsburg Landing, died at the hospital at Paducah, the 16th inst. He was wounded in the thigh so severely as to require amputation of the leg. Mortification soon set in, which resulted in death in a brief period.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!—Now that cold winter is past we expect people will choose not to hug the Post Office stove till another winter. Therefore, friend and foe will please keep from behind the scenes, and ask no questions. We "run" the institution pretty good last summer, and shall endeavor to do the same in future until ousted. So don't intrude; if you do we shall be obliged to tell ye of it in plain terms.

HARD ON THE NASHVILLE GIRLS.—The Nashville Union is hard on the rebel women of that city who turn up their noses at the Federal soldiers:

Some of the she rebels of Nashville are ugly, scrawny, lank and toothless old girls who can't attract the notice of the Union soldiers. They are the worst of rebels, "without an if—or a but."

Our soldiers won't trouble that species of rebeldom.

"J. B."—Emerson Etheridge, in his recent speech at Nashville, said:

Woman Sunday school scholars; that he will initiate His Holiness Pope into the mysteries of the Sons of Malta, is cock-sure.

We hope he may return to this country after many years—the more better.—We hope he will live on his oil and B. V's and cultivate an enormous growth of hair on the top of head, in the place where he is now—barefooted.

Grand Rapids Market.

OFFICE OF THE "REPORTER."

Friday May 2, 1862.

Flour, per sack, by load	$1,7
Oats, per bushel	4
Potatoes, per bushel	2
Meas Pork, per bbl.	17 0
Fresh Beef, per lb.	0
Butter, per lb.	1
Cheese, per lb.	1
Lard, per lb.	0
Eggs, per dozen	0
Corn Meal, clean, per cwt.	9
White Beans, per bushel	7
Mutton, per lb.	0
Salt, per bbl.	4 5
Corn, per bush, ears	4
Onions, per bushel	7
Hay, per ton	7 0

New Advertisement

New Meat Market.

THE undersigned would say to the people of Grand Rapids and vicinity that he has ranged in good shape, and thoroughly cleans the old Meat Market in Neeves' Block; and that he keeps on hand all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats. By strict attention to business, he hopes to receive the patronage of discerning public.

GOTTLIEB ECKE

Grand Rapids, May 2, 1862.

Wood County Circuit Court

NOTICE is hereby given that the Grand and Petit Jurors for the June Term, 1862, Wood Co. Circuit Court, will be drawn at the office of the Clerk of said Court, in the village of Grand Rapids, county of Wood, and state of Wisconsin, on Thursday, the 15th day of May, A. D. 1862, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated Grand Rapids, April 24th, 1862.

B. C. LYONS, Clerk.

44-3w Per AUREN KNAPP, JR., Deputy.

In Probate—Wood County Court.

In the matter of the estate of John H. Compton, deceased.

ON reading and filing the petition of Margaret J. Compton of the town of Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, representing among other things that John H. Compton late of the town of Grand Rapids, County an

3 May 1862