A favorite topic of discussion in boardrooms was the market's probable reaction to what is expected to be the next big event affecting war shipping day Tuesday, December 7 planning-results of the reported forthcoming meeting of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. Concerning Pittsville Market this, one commentator suggested "unless the outcome offers some promise of an early peace, it may fall flat as a bearish factor and be followed by a sharp rebound."

Madison, Wis .- (A) - Wisconsin manufacturing industries, spurred by the demands of war, continued to increase employes and payrolls in October.

Data compiled by the state industrial commission showed the factories had 348,500 workers and weekly payrolls totalling $15,601,000 last month. September totals were 345,-200 and $14,929,000. Each month of the year has shown increases. The figures for October, 1942, were 328,-300 and $13,193,000, and for October, 1941, they were 294,700 and $9,970,000.

Workers averaged 95.3 cents an hour, compared with 87.2 in October, 1942. Their average weekly earnings amounted to $44.77 against $40.19 in the same month a year ago. They worked an average of 47 hours, nine-tenths of an hour more than in October. 1942.
