

Smokers Run Oral Cancer Risk

Mix any one of these statistics with your favorite tobacco and take a deep drag — that is, if your conscience allows:

- About 15,000 new cases of oral-pharyngeal cancer occur each year.
- Two out of three new cases will be dead within five years. Of all major sites of primary cancer, only cancer of the lung and stomach carry a lower survival rate than oral cancer.
- Cigarette smokers run four times the risk of fatal oral cancer compared to non-smokers.
- Pipe and cigar smokers run three times the risk of fatal oral cancer compared to non-smokers.

These statistics alone should scare any smoker. But if that isn't enough, just consider what could and sometimes does happen to the life of a person who develops cancer in the oral-pharyngeal region.

Mr. X has a "sore" on the gum behind a molar tooth. Many weeks later, when it swells and hurts, he goes to the doctor. Biopsy report: Cancer of the jaw. Treatment: Radiation therapy to reduce cancer. Some weeks later, half the jaw is removed. Since cancer spread into lymph nodes of neck, these were removed in radical neck dissection.

Mrs. Y complains of hoarseness. Since she's smart, and also lucky, this early symptom brought her to the doctor before entire larynx became involved and forced removal of voice box. Biopsy report: Cancer of vocal chord. Treatment: Radiation therapy.

Mr. Z had nose bleeds and later developed a swelling on left side of roof of mouth. Biopsy report: Cancer of sinus. Treatment: Radiation therapy and, some weeks later, removal of half the upper jaw, including the eye.

Why play Russian roulette with yourself? Life's much too sweet to mess it up in that awful way. Take my advice and do the following:

Throw all tobacco out of the house.

If you feel sorry for yourself, merely add a bit to each of your other vices to make up for

Jacobys On Bridge

By Oswald and Jim Jacoby

EXPERT TRICKERY TRICKS EXPERTLY

We are turning today's column over to Jacoby Senior to tell the actual story about yesterday's hand. Here it is.

This hand was played in the semifinals of the 1936 Grand National. I was South at table 1 and since my team, the Four Aces, used point count I had no problem putting my partner, the late David Bruce, in seven. He played the hand against the best defense as described yesterday but it did our opponents no good. Dave was always a good guesser and he picked up the queen of spades and made the grand slam.

At the other table the late Jimmy Maier sat West. There is no telling how good Jimmy would have been if he had lived past 30. He was the toughest opponent I ever faced and a mighty good man to have on the other half of my team. The late Sherman Stearns who sat East was also one of the best.

Sherman got rid of a spade on the 4th diamond and so did Jimmy. From then on they followed suit but Jimmy played his clubs in rather peculiar fashion. He dropped the six and eight and carefully hung onto the nine.

South noticed this and knew that Jimmy was deliberately giving him the information that he held the last club and had started with three spades to his partner's four.

"Why this help?" mused South. "Does he want me to play him for the queen of spades or doesn't he?"

South would have been well-advised to toss a coin and at least have an even chance to make his grand slam. But South had too much pride for that. He tried to outguess Jimmy, played him for the queen and went down. — (NEA)
