

District schools to open for fall term Wednesday

The "vacations" of harried mothers of summer-weary youngsters will begin and the vacations of students and teachers in public schools of the Wisconsin Rapids District will end next Wednesday morning.

Teachers will report Monday and Tuesday for conferences, and classes will begin Wednesday at 8:10 a.m. for Lincoln High students and 8:45 a.m. for public elementary students. Class hours will remain the same as last year.

The 14 elementary schools in the district will house the same grades as last year, except that there will be no kindergarten classes at the Two Mile School.

A number of changes have been made in the elementary school boundaries, which determine where pupils will attend.

A complete description of the boundaries as approved by the school board are published in the legal section of today's Daily Tribune. Parents have been asked by school officials to study the boundaries for their attendance area, and if there are any questions, to call the administration office at 423-1720 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. before Wednesday.

Transportation routes have been developed according to the boundary arrangement and are similar to last year's. Changes, if necessary, will be made after the first week of school. Students entitled to ride buses will be required to fill out bus registration forms the first week of school.

school to quality for bus transportation.

Hot lunch will be served the first day of school, Wednesday. There has been no change in the lunch fee of 35 cents for a daily ticket, $1.50 per week. Milk will be available in the elementary schools for $1.75 per semester. As in past years, textbooks will be furnished free and workbooks will be provided in the elementary grades.

High school students will be asked to pay 50 cents for a library ticket and $1.50 for a combination lock for corridor lockers.

Freshmen are to report to the fieldhouse, other high school students to their first period classes at 8:10 a.m. Wednesday.

Schools having kindergarten through 8th grade are Howe, Mead, Bron, Vesper, Children's Choice, Grant and Rudolph. Irving will have kindergarten through grade 3; Pitsch and Lowell, kindergarten through grade 5; Washington, grades 1 through 6; Grove, kindergarten through grade 4; Woodside, kindergarten and grades 5 through 8; Two Mile, grades 1 through 4. Special education classes will be taught at Mead, Pitsch and Grove.

Classes at Lincoln will begin at 8:10 a.m. and end at 3:52 p.m., with the noon hour from 12:05 to 12:55 p.m. Bus students will leave school at 3 p.m.

Kindergarten classes will run from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m. and 12:45 to 3:15 p.m.

All elementary classes will begin at 8:45 a.m. Grades 1 and 2 will be dismissed at 3:15 p.m.; grades 3 and 4 at 3:30 p.m., and grades 5 through 8 at 3:45 p.m.

The school calendar includes 181 days of actual teaching, plus nine free days for holidays, teacher institutes and conventions.

There will be no school Sept. 1, Labor Day, Nov. 6 and 7, teachers' convention; Nov. 27 through 29, Thanksgiving vacation; Dec. 20 through Jan. 4, Christmas vacation; March 6, teachers convention; and March 26 through 31, Easter vacation. Ulstermen rally behind their prime minister BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's ruling Protestant party closed ranks behind Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark Wednesday night despite misgivings about the future of the Protestant reserve police.

No incidents were reported during the night.

The prime minister told the Unionist party caucus that the B-Special police reserves—hated by the Catholic minority in Northern Ireland—would not be inactivated. He said they would man roadblocks and guard various installations outside the areas where Protestants and Catholics battled last week.

Some party leaders had forecast demands for the government's resignation if the B-Specials were disbanded, but they seemed satisfied with the prime minister's statement. They said they were assured that the party would remain in control of the six counties of Northern Ireland, which have a Protestant majority.

Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander of the 6,000 British troops in Ulster, took some of the heat out of the political situation in removing the B-men from riot areas. The move largely satisfied many of the Catholics, who were glad to see the specials march away from their doorsteps and into the countryside.

Debbie, Camille both head out over ocean

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Debbie — apparently too tough for men to tame—and her killer sister Camille raced today for the open sea on courses that would spare Bermuda their devastating winds.

Debbie packed top winds of 110 m.p.h. Camille, called the worst hurricane to hit the U.S. mainland, rekindled after moving back into water off the mid-Atlantic coast and intensified to 50 m.p.h.

Forecasters predicted Debbie would pass well south of Bermuda and buffet the island with gales but spare it of hurricane force winds and tides.

Camille, given a 50-50 chance of again reaching hurricane force, was expected to pass well north of Bermuda. Moving eastward, the storm was located about 250 miles northwest of the mid-Atlantic island.

At midnight, Debbie was centered near Latitude 28.6 North, Longitude 64.7 West, or about 265 miles south of Bermuda. The storm was churning north-northeast at 15 m.p.h.

Bermuda, lying directly between the storm systems, enjoyed pleasant weather early today. And while the island was expected to get gale winds, forecaster Raymond Kraft at the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said he expected Bermuda to escape the full fury of hurricane force winds and tides.

"I believe Camille will go across somewhat north of Bermuda first," Kraft said, "and Debbie will follow in a parallel course behind it."

Bermuda, Kraft said, is "sort of in between the two affairs and I believe they're going to stay pretty much in between."

The hurricane center said Debbie was drawn to the north toward the resort island of Bermuda by Camille's passage out to sea after leaving hundreds dead and damage in the millions.

But weathermen said they saw little chance Debbie and Camille would combine into a monster storm.

"They can't combine without one of them dying," said Kraft. "Actually, the storms repelled each other with northeast winds from Debbie colliding with southwest winds from Camille. Each storm is a low pressure deerflies are moving in to take the mosquitoes' place.

The last rainfall of any consequence was on July 27, and that was a record setting gusher (2.62 inches). Since then, we haven't had over .10 of an inch in any one day though it has dribbled in lesser amounts on five occasions this month.

Temperatures have been relatively comfortable, with only one day this month on which the 90 mark was reached. It has reached 90 degrees only twice this summer, officially, and coincidentally, the two days were the 16th of July and August.

This month's highs have been in the 80s on 14 days, in the 70s on four days. The average low has been 58 degrees.

Wednesday night's low of 46 degrees — the coolest night since July 1, is a warning of the waning summer.

It's almost time to give the overworked lawn sprinklers a rest and check the furnace fan.
