WE, the WOMEN BY RUTH MILLETT

The woman who can make her husband think he's wonderful stands a good chance of keeping him through the years—but it's the woman who makes a husband, at least in part, live up to her "You're wonderful" talk who has a man worth keeping.

You know—everybody does—the man whose wife feeds his ego so well that he is convinced he is wonderful, only nobody else is convinced of it.

Year by year he grows into more of a stuffed shirt. His wife has him for keeps, probably, but she hasn't got very much at that.

TEMPER FLATTERY WITH INTELLIGENCE
You also probably know a woman who uses just as much flattery, but with enough subtlety and intelligence so that she encourages her husband to develop his potentialities.

She uses judgment in handing out her praise. If her husband takes up some new interest, she tells him how smart he is to do it. But she doesn't chime in with "You're right" the minute his interest begins to lag and he starts to give it up.

When she is disappointed in him she lets him know it, without tearing down his ego too much. No man minds being told that with his superior intelligence and ability he could be doing better than he is.

Nor does she tell him he's right when she thinks he is wrong about a business matter. She gently points out the other side, and lets him take a look at it.

NO ONE LIKES A STUFFED SHIRT
Praise and encouragement and "you're wonderful" talk are fine. But if a woman just hands them out without any thought or any integrity, she can make a conceited bore out of a man in no time.

There's not much point in a wife's holding onto a man if her method of holding him turns him into a stuffed shirt who is no fun at all to have around.

Appetite Returns, Nerves Calm Now

Retired Police Officer Says "KruGon Is His Pick of All Medicines Of His Experience; Foods Digest Properly Now."

"It has been so pleasing to me at my age to receive the splendid results KruGon gave me," said Mr. John Gregory, 402 1st Ave. North, Wausau, Wisconsin. "For seventeen years my bowels had been irregular and those accumulated intestinal impurities were taking their toll. My digestion became upset and I could not eat anything with great dreadfulness suffering with gas on my stomach and severe bloating afterwards. I was bothered every day in this way but especially following my evening meals. My appetite was poor and I had trouble in getting a good night's rest. But that was not all for my joints began to swell and I became nervous and upset generally. I was disturbed frequently at night, backached and I always had that tired-out feeling. I don't know what I would have done if I had not learned of KruGon.

"A short trial of KruGon proved to me to be just what I had been wanting all the time," continued Mr. Gregory. "KruGon began to eliminate those intestinal impurities and relieved me of my stubborn case of constipation. Today I have a splendid appetite and eat what I wish without discomfort afterwards. My nerves are quiet, those aches and pains over my body have been relieved and it is wonderful to sleep so good too. Just think what KruGon has meant to me at my age of seventy-one."

KruGon is sold by Whitrock's Pharmacy, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.
