Fifteen Negro dead were removed from the ill-fated car, the "Mississippi," a combination baggage-passenger coach with 22 seats.

It was telescoped by the car behind it.

Rescue workers cut into the car with torches to bring out the victims.

One of the first was a plump, unmarked baby girl of 2 or 3. She was still warm, but dead.

K. C. Shults, division superintendent of the Alabama Great Southern (a division of the Southern Railway) said there was no indication that safety signals which should have stopped the Southerner on its siding were not working.

The northbound train had gone into the siding to allow its southbound companion train to pass. The 13-car Crescent was a few minutes behind the other southbound train.

Shults said the Crescent probably was running at about 60 miles an hour when it hit.

Human Rights Show to Be Staged Here

An evening of unusual entertainment is in store for residents of the Tri-Cities area when "Mr. Human Being," a show designed to teach the values of good human relations, is presented at Lincoln fieldhouse next Saturday, with curtain time at 8 p. m.

The show, produced by the Wisconsin Idea Theater in cooperation with the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, had its premiere performances at Madison last week. Wisconsin Rapids was chosen as the first stop in the troupe's projected tour of the state.

No Admission Charge

The showing here is being sponsored by the Mayor's Committee on Human Rights. There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering will be taken to help defray local expenses.

"Mr. Human Being" is an experimental show in the style of the epic theater. It combines entertainment with a challenging plea for recognition of human rights — everybody's rights — emphasizing its theme through a variety of theater and other art media.

Tied together by the running commentary of a narrator, the production includes a description of the work of the governor's commission, ballad singing, dramatic sketches, a cartoon movie, poetry, and a dance by Orchesis, University of Wisconsin student dance group.

Directed by Kamarck

The show is under the direction of Prof. Edward Kamarck, assistant director of the Wisconsin Idea Theater. Its presentation here Saturday evening will be prefaced by introductory remarks by A. W. Zellmer, chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Human Rights and a member of the governor's commission.

Invitations to the show are being extended by the sponsoring committee through the service formerly was U. S. attorney.

In an emotion-charged appearance before a house ways means subcommittee investigating his prosecution of tax fraud Caudle said he was the victim of the "malicious intent" of lotte Police Chief Frank I. John and two federal agents.

Just before Caudle took the stand the committee attorney General McGrath reached agreement on opening up justice department files dealing with fraud prosecutions.

Representative King (D., chairman of the house ways means investigating subcommittee, told news men the attorney general had agreed to make dispute files available this noon.

The development came as subcommittee called up Caudle the public hearings on justice department handling of tax referred to it by the internal revenue bureau.

It occasioned a delay in the expected week-long hearing under way, and King said it would be recessed during the noon to permit investigators to the justice department for examination of files relating to the Caudle hearing.

McGrath issued a statement last night promising the committee operation after committee members had taken the fight over access to the files to President man in an effort to break the passage.

King said the agreement worked out with the justice department did not mean that the files would be given into the committee's session. But he said McGrath agreed to let staff investigate check through the records at justice department for such information as the committee spec

Memorial services were held September 15 at St. Killian's Catholic church in Blenker.

U. S. Agrees to Talk Over Disarmament With Russia

Paris (AP)—The United States agreed today to get together with Russia for private disarmament talks as suggested by a group of Asian-Arab states, but expressed doubt as to the usefulness of the move.

Iraq, Pakistan and Syria submitted a resolution to the 60-member to reach such an agreement without success.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinskiy told reporters he not yet decided on an answer to the Asian-Arab move aimed at easing east-west tension.
