the food crisis.

ANDERSON HAS DEFINITE PLAN FOR FOOD CRISIS

BY HOWARD FLIEGER Washington - (AP) - The house food committee sent its chairman into the cabinet as secretary of agriculture today with its own blunt ideas of what he must do to break

And he agrees. in a unanimous report signed by Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D N.M.), who takes the cabinet eath late today, the committee laid down this general blueprint to get more

1. Farm production on the same all-out basis as war productioncutlined far enough in advance so growers will know what the government expects of them.

agencies-including the army-to buy all the food they ask for, thus warding off price crushing surpluses Groups Sunk at war's end.

over-ceiling-price buying from the nation's laying flocks. To offset a growing shortage the committee urged the government to announce soon its egg price support program

It said cooking fats and vegetable oils will grow steadily tighter through this year and probably next. But it revealed one hoped-for offset: an arrangement between the United Nations and Argentina whereby that country will send out surplus fats and oils in exchange for United States fuel oil. Stressing a growing pinch for farm labor, the committee suggested farm workers be given travel priorities between now and the peak of the harvest season so they can get where the crops are and help them to market.

But if the Security council voted to call out the United Nations' armies to crush an aggression, would it really be a war in the sense we have come to know it? Hardly a Contest

If our army joined up with the armies of, say six other nations to mon up some fairly small aggressor, it wouldn't be much of a war. It hardly could be called a contest. But how large an army and air
